

Wireless Camera setup instructions

Once it is all connected up, switch on power to the receiver.

Switch on the Video recorder (if it isn't on already!)

Depending on which scart socket you plugged into on the video, select the appropriate AV channel on your Video remote.

Point the camera at something and slowly move the tuning knob on the receiver until you tune into the camera picture. The picture should be very sharp!

(if it isn't, one possibility is that you need to focus the camera - simply turn the lens slowly until the picture becomes sharper)

Try doing a test recording on the video to make sure it is working OK, and that you are receiving both sound and vision).

Select a place to put the camera, getting someone to check the TV monitor as you go. Sometimes internal building supports, such as metal girders (RSJs) can hamper the radio signals from the camera to the receiver. Place camera somewhere where you can get as much of the room/area under surveillance.
